The Unconscious Bias

Tiffany Salcido

- This training explored the unconscious mind and how the “behind the scenes” decisions the brain makes affects decision making and judgment. The course focused on understanding how unconscious biases form, how to become self-aware of individual biases, how to remain curious, and to develop some concrete strategies in overcoming bias. Because bias is a natural and normal brain function, this course was presented without blame and shame, and participants were encouraged to attend with an open mind and allow for deep self-reflection.
